on the naval limitation plan is close at hand, a session which Mr. Balfour promised today to convene with further remarks on the controversy between Great Britain and France.

ACTIONS, SUMMARIZED

Summarized, the developments in the two sessions of the conference committee today were:

1. Acceptance by France of an allowance of 175,000 tons of capital ships contingent upon agreement as to the length of the naval holiday and upon liberty of beginning replacements in 1927 instead of 1931.
2. Agreement to limit the caliber of capital ship guns to sixteen inches.
3. Failure to agree on limitation of submarine and auxiliary tonnage.
4. Proposal made to limit the size of a war craft, except capital ships and airplane carriers, hereafter built to a displacement of 10,000 tons, with guns not exceeding eight inches in caliber.
5. Proposal made to allow Great Britain and the United States 50,000 tons each of airplane carriers; Japan, 48,000 tons, and France and Italy, 28,000 tons each.
6. Proposal made that airplane carriers be limited to a displacement of 27,000 tons, with guns not exceeding eight inches in caliber.
7. Proposal made and informally agreed to that the use of submarines against commerce be barred; the proposal taking the form of a resolution drafted by Elihu Root.

Fixing a Submarine Law

The rules governing submarines this laid down as "an established part of international law" were as follows:

- "The signatory powers, desiring to make more effective the rules adopted by civilized nations for the protection of the lives of neutrals and non-combatants at sea in time of war, declare that among those rules the following are to be deemed an established part of international law:
- "1. A merchant vessel must be ordered to stop for visit and search to determine its character before it can be captured.
- "2. A merchant vessel must not be attacked unless it refuses to stop for visit and search after warning.
- "3. A merchant vessel must not be destroyed unless the crew and passengers have been first placed in safety.
- "4. Belligerent submarines are not, under any circumstances, exempt from the universal rules above stated; and if a submarine cannot capture a merchant vessel in conformity with these rules the capture of a nation requires it to desist from attack and from capture and to permit the merchant vessel to proceed unmolested.

Sarrault Presents French Report

The first session of the armament committee opened with M. Sarrault's announcement of the decision of the French government agreeing to the 175 capital ship ratio for France, but insisting on having 90,000 tons of submarines and 330,000 tons of auxiliary ships.

Mr. Hughes expressed his gratification of French acceptance of the capital ship ratio. He said capital ships were the chief weapon of offense. If the conference could succeed, as it was now evident that it would, in reducing in a fairly satisfactory manner armament as represented in capital ships, it would have done much "to relieve the burden of taxation and would aid in establishing a better basis for a lasting peace."

"Hardly a Limitation," he expressed his disappointment at the French attitude on submarines. The suggestion, he said, that France should have 90,000 tons of submarines would, on any basis of a practicable ratio, involve the assumption that Great Britain and the United States should greatly increase their submarine tonnage. This could hardly be called a limitation or reduction. Furthermore, if a large number of submarines were to be provided, then cruisers and destroyers, the natural enemies of submarines, would have to be provided in numbers adequate to deal with the situation created by a large submarine fleet.

It was a serious question whether there was hope of accomplishing anything like limitation in regard to submarines and auxiliary craft. He understood that the attitude of the French government was that, regardless of the requirements of other nations, 90,000 tons of submarines was deemed to be the minimum necessary for France.

If this was so, the suggestion of 330,000 tons of auxiliary vessels for France would have its bearings on what was considered necessary for the other nations and might make it difficult to arrive at an agreement limiting submarine tonnage.

WHO IS IT?

marines and auxiliary craft. He did not desire at this time and in view of the existing situation to discuss details, but he wished to say that an agreement for the expansion of armament was not under consideration. The conference was called to consider the limitation of armament.

BALFOUR-SARRAULT DEBATE

Mr. Balfour took issue with M. Sarrault's assertion that France was sacrificing in agreeing to accept an allowance of 175,000 tons of capital ships, declaring that this would give France a greater relative strength among world navies than at present.

The French, he said, proposed to become the strongest power in submarines and increase the tonnage of their auxiliary craft, "a somewhat singular contribution to the labors of a conference called for the diminution of armament."

The French had now come forward with a great building program of submarines and auxiliary craft. He was perfectly unable to conceive how that could be regarded as a defensive policy. If submarines were to be used as a strictly military weapon, in the manner contemplated by the American advisory committee, how came it that a fleet of capital ships limited to 175,000 tons required 90,000 tons of submarines for its support and protection? And if 90,000 tons of submarines were really required for a fleet of 175,000 tons of capital ships, how many submarines would America and Britain require to build to assist their fleets of 50,000 tons? It was obvious that the proposed 90,000 tons of submarines "were intended to destroy commerce." They "could not be intended for any other purpose."

Wanted Equal Navy

It therefore appeared that, at a moment when we were all assembled to discuss the limitation of armament, we were asked to agree to their increase, and that a country which did not desire to be among the first three naval powers in the world proposed nevertheless "to build instruments of illegitimate warfare to an extent equal in numbers or superior in efficiency to those legitimately required by any other fleet in the world."

For the moment he need say no more. The whole of this controversy would again come up before the public conference. For this occasion he reserved himself.

Mr. Balfour added that he must, however, dwell shortly on the effect which the French declaration of naval policy must inevitably produce upon British opinion. It was perfectly clear that "at our very gates" a fleet of 90,000 tons of submarines (50,000 tons of which were to be of the newest type) was to be constructed, no limitation of any kind on auxiliary vessels capable of dealing with submarines could be admitted by the government which he represented. Public notice had now been given in the most formal manner that this great fleet was to be built on the shores nearest to Britain and "it would necessarily be a very great menace to her."

He had no doubt, if the occasion ever arose, that Britain would be equal to it, but it was on condition that we reserved the full right of Britain to build any auxiliary craft which she considered necessary to deal with the situation.

Italy and Japan Announce Stance

On behalf of Italian Senator Schanzer deposed the political and economic consequences of the French declaration of naval policy and M. Hanhara, for Japan, regretted that an agreement could not be reached on the basis of the original Hughes proposal.

Mr. Hughes then proposed the 10,000 ton displacement and eight inch gun limit for auxiliary ships.

Sarrault Defends Position

Responding to Mr. Balfour, M. Sarrault said:

"Certain delegations, while testifying to their satisfaction in seeing France accept the reduced proportion of capital ships, have expressed a real disappointment on learning that the French government was unable to make similar sacrifices as regards other classes of vessels. Allow me to say that this disappointment, if it really exists, will call for a similar feeling in my own country when it is learned there how the amount of tonnage allotted to France has been authoritatively determined without taking any account of her manifest needs and of the absolute necessities of her defense for the security and safeguarding of which no country is justified in trusting to the good offices of its neighbors."

"It is this idea, this conception of the true needs and interests of France and of her colonies, which has inspired the decisions of the French government; it is this idea which is both the measure and the limit of their demand. It is in no way influenced by any comparison with what our neighbors are doing or by any anxiety to measure our naval force against theirs."

Assures France's Friendship

Herein lies the profound difference between our points of view and those of others. We have not apportioned our needs and our demands by carefully examining the consequences of the French navy of the increase of the naval power of certain neighboring countries with whom we cherish, under the happiest of conditions, relations of friendship, cooperation, and alliance."

We are not guarded by any fear of what their strength may be, precisely because they are friends. Great Britain, with her 525,000 tons of capital ships, will possess a fleet of great vessels stronger than the corresponding fleets of France and Italy put together. "We have no desire to destroy merchant vessels, as Mr. Balfour has said; we have formally declared the contrary here, and this declaration was echoed not later than yesterday in the debates in the French senate. But France has coast lines which she must defend; she has also, and above all, a great colonial domain, second in importance only to that of Great Britain, distributed over all the seas and concerning which we also may have, I presume, our anxiety as to its defense, its police, and its surveillance."

"We have the duty of safeguarding the communications in our colonies with the mother country, and I have already said here that in case of war the safety of transportation of our troops overseas to the mother country would be among the first of our obligations."

Balfour Points to History. Mr. Balfour rejoined that while it was almost unthinkable that their respective countries could be on anything but the most cordial terms, one must not overlook the teachings of history. Britain had had many conflicts with France, though happily in the distant past. Britain had always been superior

Several other families in the structure and adjoining buildings were forced to flee to the street thinly clad.

in naval armament and always inferior in land forces. Never in the history of France had she had to fear the power of Great Britain to strike a blow at her heart.

In the nature of things that must be so, no inferior military power had ever yet been able to invade or seriously imperil a superior military power merely because she had more ships. The almost inconceivable happened and close allies became enemies. It was clear that in that case no British superiority of capital ships would imperil the life of France for an hour. To be fair, he must admit that it might conceivably imperil some remote islands belonging to France, but France, with her land armament, would remain secure in the face of superior sea power.

Now compare the position of France in the face of a superior British surface fleet, with the position of Britain in the face of France with the largest commerce fleet in the world. She could use that fleet if she chose for commerce destruction, and it was difficult to believe that in time of stress she would not so use it. If Britain were unarmed against submarines it was evident that France, using that conference to give serious consideration to far east-Russian situation before adjournment is permitted.

Japan's Aims Political

Arguments filed with the conference seek to show that Japan's aims in Siberia are political and strategic. Summary of the Japanese occupation of Siberia, which began in August, 1918, when the Japanese landed troops at Vladivostok simultaneously with American and other allied troops, the brief against Japan says:

"Japan's aims in Siberia are political and strategic. The Japanese militarists who directed Japan's policy in the Russian far east are striving to establish Japanese domination all along the Pacific coast of Asia and to transform the sea of Japan into a mare clausum."

Detailed history of the Japanese occupation of Sakhalin is cited to prove that the Japanese there have closed all Russian institutions and abolished all Russian authority; abrogated all existing Russian laws, substituting in their place Japanese laws and administrative orders of the Japanese authorities, and extended their control and arbitrary decisions to the whole civil, commercial, and industrial life of the Russian population.

POWERS DECIDE ON NEW TARIFF RATE FOR CHINA

Concessions Are Made to Japan and India.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.)

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—The Chinese tariff situation was practically settled today, when the powers in conference agreed upon the Underwood compromise for an immediate increase in tariff to 5 per cent ad valorem, a future increase to 7 1/2 per cent, and an increase to 12 1/2 per cent when the provincial tariff is abolished.

Concessions were made to Japan and India, and several nations not represented at the conference will have to be negotiated with in the fixing of valuations of commodities. An interval of from three to five years is suggested before the 7 1/2 tariff goes into effect, in order to give Japan and India a chance to readjust industries. Japan exports to China annually cotton yarns of the value of $200,000,000 silver. China is manufacturing a lower grade of cotton yarns, which compete with Japanese goods, and if the Chinese tariff should go once to 7 1/2 many mills in Japan would be seriously affected.

Shantung Negotiations Delayed

Japanese stated tonight that Shantung negotiations will not be reopened this week. Chinese organizations petitioned the conference to take up this subject in the conference. A deadlock exists. British and American offers of mediation will be the next step. M. Hanhara tonight said the published report of demands made by Japan upon the China government was untrue. He said Japan would get out of Siberia when guaranteed protection for 8,000 Japanese citizens there, and also against bolshevik propaganda getting over the Korean border.

H. F. MCCORMICKS DIVORCED; WIFE OBTAINS DECREE

Desertion Since May, '18,
Ground for Action.

Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick, daughter of John D. Rockefeller, yesterday was granted a divorce from her husband, Harold F. McCormick, president of the International Harvester company.

Desertion was the charge made by the wife, admitted by the husband, and substantiated at a hearing in the superior court by Mrs. McCormick herself and two servants.

It took less than fifty minutes from the time of the filing of the bill to conduct the legal proceedings which ended when Judge Charles A. McDonald affirmed the name to the decree. This legal separation which became public knowledge last October when Mr. McCormick issued a formal statement announcing that he and his wife were living apart.

Big Array of Counsel.
Representing Mrs. McCormick was Charles S. Cutting, former judge of the Probate court. Counsel for Mr. McCormick included George A. Cook, former justice of the Supreme court of Illinois, John P. Wilson, famous as a corporation lawyer, and Clarence S. Darrow, best known for his activity in cases in which labor unions and their leaders have been interested.

During the proceedings there was no question of alimony or of settlement of property rights, although the suit, by its very nature, involved questions affecting two of the greatest fortunes in the world.

After the court had admitted the lawyers declared that no legal settlement had been made. It is understood, however, that both Mr. and Mrs. McCormick are to retain possession of all property held in their own names. Arrangements are to be made later as to the disposal of property in which both have an undivided interest.

Mrs. McCormick Retains Home.
Mrs. McCormick, it is declared, will retain the McCormick residence at 1090 Lake Shore drive, while her husband will continue to reside in the country home in Lake Forest, one of the show places of the country. That is the arrangement as to residence made at the time of their separation and it is understood that it will continue. During the winter months Mr. McCormick, with his daughter, Muriel, and his son, Fowler, is living with his mother, Mrs. McCormick, in Rush street.

Artistic and artistic enterprises which are their principal support and in many cases their very existence to the maintenance of the McCormicks are not to suffer by reason of the divorce. Among these is the Chicago grand opera. The relations between the McCormicks and the opera had already been arranged.

It had been announced that with the year they would connect to the grand opera, on which they have spent something like $5,000,000. The opera will continue, however, to support the opera with large contributions to the general fund of the McCormick Zoological gardens, to which it is reported that they intend to give it $2,000,000 of scenery and stage effects, which is their property.

Mrs. McCormick will continue her support of the Edith Rockefeller McCormick Zoological gardens, to which she has given $300,000.

No formal announcement of the definite plans was forthcoming last night, however.

Came With Dramatic Suddenness.
While the divorce proceedings had been expected for some time, even before last October, when the divorce was formally announced, the actual filing of the papers came with a suddenness which was almost dramatic.

At 11:29 Judge McDonald took his seat on the bench and almost immediately Mrs. McCormick was called to the stand. She was dressed soberly in black seal and rabbit coat and black gloves and wore no veil. She answered questions without any hesitation or tremor.

"State your name in full," said Judge Cutting.
"Edith Rockefeller McCormick," was the answer.
Q—Where do you reside? A—1090 Lake Shore drive.
Q—How long have you resided there? A—Since August, 1897, except for periods which I have spent abroad.

Q—When were you married and to whom? A—November 26, 1895, to Harold F. McCormick.
Q—How long did you live with him? A—Until May 27, 1918.
Q—On that date what happened? A—He left me.

It took less than fifty minutes from the time of the filing of the bill to conduct the legal proceedings which ended when Judge Charles A. McDonald affirmed the name to the decree.

SALOME, OPERA OF THOSE GONE MAD, THRILLS 'EM ANEW

Garden's Art and Strauss' Music Defy Puritanism.

BY EDWARD MOORE.
After witnessing "Salome" again last night, with an interval of eleven years since its former performance in Chicago, I am divided in my mind whether to be more enraptured over the gorgeousness of Richard Strauss' score or appalled over the frightful insanity of Oscar Wilde's play.

There is no question that Strauss wrote the most vivid, the most colorful, the most entrancing score that ever was put into operatic form. In one way Miss Garden and her associates in the Chicago opera have done us a poor service. There can be no further thrills over any music that may come up in the future. "Salome" is the last word.

Whether a case of sex abnormality is a possible theme for art or whether it ought to be confined to the text books and the class rooms is a question that for the present I propose to leave to my betters. The only question is whether it is something that can be seen without a sickening of soul and body. When it was given here eleven years ago there was reason to believe that two classes of people liked it—those who did not know what it was about and those who knew all it was about. After being present last night, I am not so sure. Probably the amount of Alexander's O. J. day, I don't know where or where. That, you know, is her affair, and I never interfere with her affairs.

A determined negation met the inquiry whether reconciliation could be effected. The amount of Alexander's O. J. day, I don't know where or where. That, you know, is her affair, and I never interfere with her affairs.

In Ghastly Role

Mary Garden, as she appeared last night in what critics assert to be her greatest role, the name part of the opera "Salome."

C'MON, FELLERS, LINCOLN PARK'S OPEN TO SLIDING

Official Order Bans Taboo on Sleds.

Buddy, did a "copper" stop you the other day when you went out in Lincoln park to try the Christmas sled on one of the hills? Did he say that coasting wasn't allowed, because you kids are so destructive to shrubbery? Well, take the sled out again today and see what he says.

Instructions to the Lincoln park police, issued yesterday from the offices in the park order that children shall be allowed to coast anywhere they please save on inclines terminating on the boulevards, where there is danger from passing automobiles.

Parks for Enjoyment.
"It is not the intention of the park officials to prevent children from playing in it," supervising officers said yesterday. "They will be allowed to coast where they please. The parks are meant to be enjoyed."

A temporary pond has been made at Waveland avenue, until the large skating pond in the park is available. Other spots have been flooded in smaller parks and three warming houses have been erected. The mildness of the weather has thus far prevented the Lincoln park pond from being used.

There are twenty-two toboggan slides in the west park, from eight to ten feet high, used to capacity by neighborhood children every day. A. C. Schrader, superintendent of the west park, said. The boy laden sled skids down the slide and for a distance of 200 to 300 feet, but the chief difficulty with the slides is keeping them properly iced. The superintendent declared.

"These slides are better and safer for the children than natural hills," Mr. Schrader said. "And there aren't any hills here, anyhow."

Skaters Out in Force.
The failure of Jack Frost to get on the job in earnest has also prevented skating on the larger ponds in Jackson park. In seventeen smaller ponds, however, throughout the south park, J. F. Foster, superintendent, announced, skaters are busy early and late.

"No toboggan slides have been erected this year," he said, "and probably will not be. But children are permitted unrestricted use of all knolls and hills throughout the park for sliding, where they may slide without danger. The midway slopes are crowded daily, as are other hilly portions of the park."

Children living in Oak Park were made happy last night by an announcement by the forest preserve commission that a slide, thirty-five feet high and nearly 1,000 feet long, will be installed in the forest preserve adjoining the suburb. Plans are being made to place slides in other parts of the forest preserve.

Ravenswood residents last night celebrated the opening of an outdoor skating rink bounded by Wilson, St. Louis, Leland, and Kimball avenues, arranged through the efforts of William G. Keith, commissioner of game and electricity, and E. A. Cover, radio expert. The rink is surrounded by a track one-third of a mile long, to be used for races, and will be lighted by 2,000 electric lamps and eighteen spot lights.

GALA AUDIENCE DRAWN TO HEAR OPERA "SALOME"

Harold McCormicks Both Present in Their Boxes.

The much heralded "Salome" was greeted last night by an audience as large as could be contained in the Auditorium. The regular Wednesday night boxholders were there with their guests and the other boxes were also populated with citizens, all anxious to witness the opera which has occasioned much talk and comment since its first and until now only presentation here eleven years ago.

Sharing the interest of the audience with Mary Garden were Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, who earlier in the day had been divorced by a decree of the superior court. As on the preceding nights of the opera season Mr. and Mrs. McCormick occupied boxes on opposite sides of the theater and each seemed to be entirely oblivious to the presence of the other.

Mrs. McCormick was with her Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Philo A. Otis. There was little time, however, for much leveling of opera glasses and lorgnettes on boxes 5 and 4, for the opera is in fact on and there were no intermissions.

Among Box Holders.
Mr. and Mrs. Laurence H. Armour entertained a large party, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Crane Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey McCormick, Mr. and Mrs. Barrett Wendell, Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Howard, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. McGann. Before the opera Mr. and Mrs. Armour gave a dinner party at their residence.

Occupying the McGann's box were Mrs. McGann's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Farwell Winston, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Wheeler, and Mrs. H. H. Whitman of Boston.

In George F. Porter's box were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linn, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Hamill, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Cable, and David Adler.

Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Cary, Maj. Wood, Maj. and Mrs. Bell were with Mrs. A. Watson Armour in the Lester Armour box.

Mr. and Mrs. James Minotto, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Niblack, and Mr. and Mrs. Emil C. Wetten were occupying the Louis F. Swift box.

Miss Irene Wilson, Walter Wilson, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clyde Jones had as guests Mr. and Mrs. George S. Bridge and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bruce Scott.

Pikes in Aids Box.
In a box together were Mrs. Owen Aldis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pike, Russell Tyson, and John Dorr Bradley, and his daughter, Miss Eleanor Bradley.

N. B. Higbie, H. G. Higbie, Miss Dorothy Higbie, Miss Dorothy Derby, Miss Frances Kellogg, and Miss Marie Ingwersen were together. Mr. and Mrs. Edmund A. Russell were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. George A. McKim, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Morse and Mr. and Mrs. William V. Kelley were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Molera and Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Lamm were with Dr. and Mrs. Harold E. Thomas. Miss George Frank, Miss Jacob Frank, Miss Merwin Evans, Gerald Frank, Les Frank, and Maurice Kaufman were together.

With the Channels.
Miss Ethel Curley, Miss Emily Channell and George Huebner were with Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Channell. Occupying the Harry Pratt Judson box were Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Stevens, Miss Sylvia Stevens, Dr. and Mrs. Shirley Munns (Cyrena Van Gordon), and Lieut. Davis. Mr. and Mrs. F. Wight Neumann had with them Mrs. J. Harry Selz, Mrs. Austin Selz, and E. F. Selz, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart, Mrs. William C. Pullman, John Jenks, and Walter Gregory were guests of Mrs. Caswell Allen Sharpe.

Among others in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Curry, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McBrine Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Jones, Mr. and Mrs. William D. McMillaine, Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Letta, and Mr. and Mrs. William B. Storey.

INDIA CONGRESS OPPOSES REVOLT WITH VIOLENCE

British Report Egypt Grows Tranquil.

BY OTIS SWIFT.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
LONDON, Dec. 28.—The British foreign office dispatches received today report great improvement in the Egyptian situation. Both Cairo and Alexandria were quiet this morning, and the employees of the government offices returned to work. The Cairo schools, where the strike continues, have been closed.

It is pointed out that this revolt, or rather, outbreak of rioting, was directed against the sultan's government, and the British troops were not used unless asked for by the Egyptian authorities.

Said Zogul Pasha is held under detention by the Egyptian government, not by the British, but it is true, of course, that the sultan's government generally acts on the advice of the British high commission.

Gandhi's Policy Upheld.
AHMEDABAD, British India, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—An attempt to force the adoption by the Indian nationalist congress today of a motion providing that complete independence from the British empire should be attained by possible and proper means, instead of by "legitimate and peaceful means," was frustrated by Mahatma Gandhi, the nationalist leader, who warned the congress against alienating the sympathies of the moderates.

A special committee of the congress rejected the proposal by an overwhelming majority and adopted Gandhi's resolution in favor of maintaining the existing creed of nonviolence.

Dedicates Victoria Memorial.
CALCUTTA, Dec. 28.—[By the Associated Press.]—Amid scenes of great splendor and in the presence of enthusiastic crowds, the Prince of Wales today opened the Victoria Memorial, dedicated to the Queen Empress Victoria, whose memory is held in the highest esteem throughout India.

The building is in the form of a vast marble palace and is of rare architectural beauty. It required fifteen years to erect it. The building comprises a museum, commemorative of India's glory. It contains portraits of the old emperors of Delhi and of famous men who labored for India during the Victorian era.

The ceremony today was carried out in full state. The Prince of Wales drove from government house with an escort of guns and cavalry.

Have Gone Limit,
LLOYD GEORGE TELLS IRISHMEN

Issues Statement to Foes of Peace Treaty.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The British foreign office, on behalf of Prime Minister Lloyd George, issued tonight the following statement, which undoubtedly is addressed to those Irishmen who are trying to defeat the treaty:

"The prime minister was asked yesterday about the Irish settlement, and he made the following statement:

"No British statesman could go further than we have gone. No British statesman could consider any proposal involving Ireland being out of the empire. The treaty places Ireland on an equality with the other nations in the empire; gives Ireland the same claim to membership in the league of nations and every right that Canada has in fact and in constitutional practice."

"Not merely the rejection but the alteration even of the treaty would render it null and void. This would indeed be deplorable in the interests of both countries."

"New Parley Impossible."

"The British government has gone the utmost limit in the treaty, and to reopen the discussion, which has been closed only after the most exhaustive consideration of every point, would be a fruitless proceeding and is impossible."

"A committee consisting of British ministers, presided over by the colonial secretary, has been set up to deal with the evacuation of the British forces, the settling of amnesty, and the making of all necessary arrangements for the British side for the transfer of full executive responsibility to the Irish provisional government. The work of this committee, which has been in continuous session up to Christmas, is now being completed. The Christmas holidays, is now unavoidably held up pending approval of the treaty, but on approval it would be carried through with the utmost possible dispatch."

"It is the intention of the British government to hand over without delay their responsibilities to the provisional government, which will function during the period of transition, required for setting up the Irish Free State administration."

People Work for Treaty.

All reports from Ireland indicate that great pressure is being brought on Dail members to support the treaty. A convention of Sinn Fein clubs in County Donegal last night declared in favor of the treaty and ordered the six Dail members from the county not only to vote in favor of the treaty but to work for ratification.

A similar action was taken by the Sinn Fein executives in South Cork.

U. S. DRY AGENTS GET POISON NIPS; TWO IN HOSPITAL

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 28.—Four United States prohibition enforcement agents have been poisoned in the past three weeks from illicit brandy which they consumed in the course of duty, but none was made seriously ill, it was announced today from the office of E. Forrest Mitchell, district prohibition enforcement officer.

It was necessary for William C. Jordan and Frank Strohm, two of the agents, to go to hospitals. D. H. Rinckel and John O'Toole, the other agents who were poisoned, are recovering at their homes.

Six Dead Drinkers in New York.

New York, Dec. 28.—With six New Yorkers dead and another in a critical condition from drinking Christmas liquor, federal prohibition agents who returned today from a conference in Washington renewed their predictions of the dryest New Year's eve the city ever has known. Declaring that Christmas drinking was chiefly at home, the agents announced they were ready to jump on the first flask that flashed at a New Year's Eve cabaret table.

URGE SENATE TO KEEP NEWSPRINT FREE FROM DUTY

U. S. Product Inadequate, Publishers Say.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Special.—Retention of newsprint paper and wood pulp on the free list in the new tariff law was urged by S. E.
Thomson, business manager of The Chicago Tribune and chairman of the paper committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, and by William J. Page of Waterbury, Conn., president of the Publishers' Buying corporation, today before the senate finance committee.

Their arguments followed the presentation of a plea for protection made by Col. William E. Haskell, chairman of the executive committee of the newsprint manufacturers of the United States. Col. Haskell expressed fear of increasing importations of newsprint paper from Germany, Norway, Sweden, and Finland.

Refers to Canadian Output.
While Col. Haskell did not suggest any rates of duty, his argument indicated that some protection was considered desirable against Canadian paper as well as against imports from Europe.

Mr. Page said that the American publishers did not like to use the European paper if they could help it.
He estimated that the domestic product has a natural protection due to superior qualities and other factors equivalent to 10 per cent.

Mr. Thomson asked that the retaliatory provisions which are attached to the newsprint and wood pulp paragraphs in the free list of the Fordney bill be eliminated entirely. He said that the proposed retaliatory duty, which could be imposed by the President, merely would aggravate the situation. He asked that retrograde and half-tone papers be specified as coming under the definition of standard newsprint paper. He also asked that grades and fir logs, when imported for the purpose of manufacture of newsprint, should be included in the free list.

How Mr. Thomson Reasoned.
Summarized, the reasons set forth by Mr. Thomson for retaining newsprint and wood pulp on the free list were as follows:

"That the total consumption of newsprint paper by American newspapers in 1920 amounted, according to the newsprint service bureau, to $144,000 tons; that the total newsprint production of American mills in 1920 amounted to 1,511,000 tons or less than 70 per cent of the amount required for domestic consumption; that there was imported during the year 689,000 tons, of which 668,000 tons or 95 per cent were imported from Canada.

"That, in view of the obvious insufficiency of the American newsprint industry to supply the full domestic requirements, and in view of the necessarily large reliance, upon Canadian imports, the manufacturers of newsprint have not asked for any tariff upon imports of newsprint from Canada, but have confined themselves wholly to a request for a tariff upon imports from European countries whose low priced labor and depreciated money are declared to place American manufacturers at a competitive disadvantage.

"That in imposing a tariff for revenue congress has always taken into account the educational and public uses to which the product is put and that no product is entitled to greater consideration upon this ground than printing paper."

IMPROVEMENTS IN MEXICO

1—The Obregon government is said to be contemplating several schemes for relieving unemployment and bringing a return of prosperity to Mexico.

2—One scheme, in particular, is to colonize vacant land in the state of Jalisco. Colonization is said to be progressing.

3—Mexican rail shops are now working again, as is seen by a steady return of American cars which Mexican roads had borrowed.

4—The Mexican government is about to build a new railroad into the Vera Cruz oil region, which will tend to make more wealth available for use.

At the approaching meeting of the allied supreme council at Cannes were discussed.

MEXICO SPEEDS NEW ADVANCES IN AGRICULTURE

Found Colonies, Irrigates and Builds Railways.

BY J. H. CORNYN.

(Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.)

Mexico City, Dec. 28.—The Mexican government is to become a colonizer on its own account for promotion of agriculture. The Atequiza ranch in Jalisco has been purchased for 600,000 pesos ($300,000), and extensive irrigation works are to be built at the expense of the department of agriculture.

In January some 400 colonists are to be sent to the ranch. These will be allotted lands, which they will work under the direction of a state officer.
They will also help to build the irrigation works. Several other plans of a like nature are to be tried out.

Drainage and Irrigation.
The department of agriculture and fomento is fathering a plan to carry on drainage works throughout the country on an extensive scale this coming year, provided congress grants a budget of 25,000,000 pesos ($12,500,000), which has been asked for. The proposition has the backing of President Obre-gon.

Two million pesos ($1,000,000) are to be spent in the Laguna country in the construction of irrigation works, which are badly needed. On account of the urgent necessity of finding work for the thousands of workmen out of employment there, the scheme proposed by the president is to raise half the required amount among the merchants of the country, adding it to the $1,000,000 promised by the land owners of the Laguna country.

GIFT OF GAB AID TO STUDENT, SAY COLLEGE HEADS

Heads of two of the leading universities in the east, Johns Hopkins and Columbia, in letters read yesterday before the National Association of Teachers of Speech, asserted that the teaching of public speaking in the secondary schools not only helps the student in his public speaking courses at college but is extremely valuable in aiding him in his other studies.

In other words, the student who can express himself forcibly, or, in popular slang, "throw the bull," has a much better chance to excel than his less fluent brother.

The letters were incorporated in an address given by J. Walter Reeves of Fiddie institute. He spoke of the progress made during the last year in winning the cooperation of colleges and universities to the practice of giving credit for public speaking work taken in secondary schools.

The Harris Trust Savings and Life Insurance Plan is a combination of a Savings Account in the Harris Trust and Savings Bank and a regular "ordinary life" insurance policy in one of the oldest and strongest mutual life insurance companies in the United States.

Under this plan you set out to save $1,000 or more (up to $25,000), by making small monthly deposits in a Savings Account. To save $1,000, your monthly deposit varies from $8.40 to $9.90, depending on your age. At the end of ten years you will receive the amount you set out to save in cash for yourself. You do not have to die to receive the full benefits of this plan.

In case of your death, however, before the com-receive from the insurance company the full amount you planned to save, and the bank will pay the balance you have accumulated in your savings account. Or, in case of death by accident, your beneficiary will receive double the face value of your policy plus the balance in your savings account.

In the event you become totally and permanently disabled, the insurance company agrees to pay you $10.00 per month (for each $1,000 life insurance) during the period of total disability, and pay the face amount of the policy at the time of your death.

In short, the plan is designed to protect you

MAYOR WRITES, BUT DECLINES TO TALK TRACTION

Stays Away from Hearing Held by Aldermen.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Mayor Thompson was invited to appear yesterday before the local transportation subcommittee to tell what he thinks should be done to improve conditions. He failed to appear. Instead, he sent a letter, inviting another meeting from Chairman Schwartz.

"The Schwartz's reply will tell whether he favors the people or the traction interests," said the mayor later.

Some of the aldermanic comments on the mayor's failure to appear are as follows:

Ald. T. A. Hogan—The least he could have done would have been to show the committee a little courtesy by appearing.

Ald. Schwartz—The mayor has no right to seek commitments before appearing before a committee.

Ald. Tompkins—The mayor is ill advised or misinformed. He got his $50,000, got no results, and is through appearing.

Ald. Schaffer—We should not ignore the mayor's letter. Let's invite him again.

Will Invite Him Again.

The committee decided to do all Schwartz was instructed to write the mayor again.

The mayor in his letter says that Schwartz's pamphlet "is largely an argument against the feasibility of the Thompson plan for people's ownership and operation of street cars at a cent fare."

His letter goes on: "In view of this, it might be well to see if we agree on what I regard as fundamental in the solution of the local transportation."

The fundamentals he recites are: "The streets belong to the people, the people ought to own and operate the means of local transportation, the means to be set up to manage and operate the system of local transportation in behalf of the people should be a board of trustees or commission to be elected by the people, and the fixing of a cent fare to remain at that figure until changes by authority of the people."

Wants to Save $3,500,000.

Ald. T. O. Wallace urged the subcommittee take action which will collect $3,500,000 as rental for use of the streets. That has been heard by Judge McDonald of the Municipal court. If he decides in favor of the city, he will order the money paid and it will go into the corporate fund.

"Action should be taken before the money is placed in the corporate fund," Ald. Wallace said. "Does any one believe the corporation counsel is following a course that will place that $3,500,000 in place except in the corporate fund, where it can be spent for anything? The Thompson-Lundin organization controls the city council on any project in which they are interested."

Action was deferred until today.

SACRAMENTAL WINES SEIZED

Fifty barrels of port and sherry sacramental wine were seized by federal prohibition officials at the Sacramento Wine company's plant at 2237 West North avenue yesterday. Two trucks, as shown above, were used to transport the wine to a federal warehouse.

"HEAT UP YOUR ICY MITTS," TIP TO REFORMERS

Purity Seekers Told of Mistake.

Up to the time that Dr. E. H. Pratt, Chicago physician, began his address before the international Purity conference at the Lexington hotel yesterday, it has been popularly supposed that cold hands and a warm heart to go together. But that theory is all wrong, it would appear.

Dr. Pratt severely criticized reformers, while the Rev. W. S. Fleming, rebuked the movies.

"Condemnation is no cure for the evils of today," said Dr. Pratt. "Instead of condemning so much you ought to help more. You ought to be good fellows. Let your faces shine with the desire to help. Don't try to legislate away cigarettes. Cure the nerve force that causes the demand for the pills. Put lust to work. Make it a force for good and not for evil."

Make Evil Do Good.

"Don't murder the men who run the movies, the poolrooms, the jazz dance-halls. The thing to do is to convert them to doing good. Every man has appetites. The remedy is not to kill them but to guide them into right channels."

"You people think you can do good by crying out against the menaces to this country. But you can't do good that way. Let me illustrate. If I come to see you to make you glad, I come dashing in to your room aglow with life and spirits. I grasp your hand and you can tell by my face I'm glad to see you. My hands will be warm. But if I come to get something from you or to condemn you, my hands will be cold. Selfishness kills the capillary circulation. That old saying that a man who has cold hands has a warm heart is all wrong. If his heart is warm his hands will be also."

Pastor Attacks Movies.

The Rev. Mr. Fleming, who is manager of the National Reform association, told the delegates that the "movies" were the biggest school for crime this side of hell. That the motion picture puts cigarettes into the mouths of the boys of the country, and dulls the mentality of students. That it is the biggest foe the prohibition authorities have to battle with, and the greatest advocate of lawlessness in the United States.

J. Louis Guyon followed with an explanation of the origin of jazz music. He said the popular introduction of the name and the music was an outgrowth of society people's slumming in the old red light districts.

Gas Company Employees Get Huge Insurance Policy

A life insurance policy with a face amount of $3,867,000 and annual premiums totaling $41,722.87 was delivered to the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company by the Aetna Life Insurance company yesterday. The policy was written following a vote of the employees, who receive insurance based on their length of service.

OPENING GUN OF 1922 CAMPAIGN FIRED BY HULL

Democratic Leader Sees Evil in G. O. P. Rule.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 28.—Declaring that "the time has come when patriotic citizens and Democrats should indulge in plain talking," Cordell Hull, chairman of the Democratic national committee, in his first public address since election to that position, tonight reviewed the Republican administration of national affairs since March, 1921, and contrasted this with the "unparalleled achievement" of the Democrats in the previous eight years.

The address was delivered at a dinner given by the state Democratic executive committee in honor of Chairman Hull, and attended by party leaders from every part of the state.

Outlines Probable Platform.

It was accepted generally as the opening of the congressional election campaign by the new chairman who went into the public questions which he said now faced the government, and explained the attitude which his party would take on them.

Further relief for farmers, adequate aid for veterans, reduction of taxes to compensate for the "panic conditions" now obtaining, and a remedy for the situation resulting from the flood of tax exempt securities were among the issues outlined by the new chairman for the Democratic party.

"Democrats are the loyal and consistent friends of the ex-service men," he declared. Turning to the farmer's condition, he declared that "every solicitude of his welfare—the Democratic party, when in power, did more to advance the interests of the farmer than had been done in all the previous history of the nation, and had planned to do much more, if it had remained in power."

As Hull Sees Conditions.

"The disappointed farmer now reads the accounts of his industrial ruin by the light of his burning corn. Millions of laborers are frequenting the soup houses, bread lines, and auction block as in the days of chattel slavery. Business has discovered that it was crucified on the cross of politics."

The Democratic party is the only political organization, Mr. Hull contended, which today offers a "comprehensive, up to date program of politics and principles."

"The recent Democratic administration has not yet received credit for its many great accomplishments," he said.

FAILURE TO GET SPURGIN ROUSES THE GRAND JURY

Votes to Indict Officials, then Rescinds.

A "runaway grand jury" yesterday tried to force immediate action against officials of the Michigan Avenue Trust company, whose president, Warren C. Spurgin, is a fugitive from justice after embezzling funds of the bank. At one time the jury actually voted to indict the bank officials and those of the Graff Manufacturing company, a subsidiary Spurgin concern. Later in the day they reconsidered this action, but it was only after assistant state attorneys had pointed out to the jurors that their action was illegal.

The trouble started when Assistant State's Attorney William McLaughlin, who was in temporary charge of the December grand jury, suggested to it that the evidence against the Spurgin bank officials be put over for the January grand jury to act upon.

"Why hasn't Spurgin been captured?" one juror demanded. His question was followed by others from other members of the panel. Then some one made a motion to vote true bills against the officials accused. This was carried.

Meantime Mr. McLaughlin had summoned Assistant State's Attorney Ernest Stanley Hodges, who is his superior, to his assistance. After an hour's pleading Mr. Hodges succeeded in convincing the jurors that they had acted upon an erroneous impression. He told them that the evidence in the hands of the state's attorney showed that Spurgin had accomplices, but the cases against these accomplices were not ready for grand jury action. He promised that the case would be completed in a week or two and that it would then be presented to the January grand jury.

This promise satisfied the jurors and led to the rescinding of the vote for indictments.

The evidence in the hands of the state's attorney relates particularly to a loan of $400,000 made to the Graff Manufacturing company.

Henrici's

Accepting the verdict of the noisy paid reformers, the more they reform the worse the world becomes. No doubt there is consolation in the discovery that forcing virtue does not rob them of their occupation.

But sensible people will not allow silly vaporing to discredit religion. And meanwhile unpaid, real reformers, the good, intelligent mothers of the world, little influenced by statements of what "everyone else" is doing, will continue to teach their sons and daughters wherein virtue is and to cling to it.

All of which naturally suggests good resolutions for the new year. And why not include a resolution to be particular about what, and therefore where, you shall eat during 1922?

It is not easy to select good food from among indifferent food, after it is cooked. Why not then resolve to patronize, during 1922, only restaurants in which, you may be sure, all food served is uniformly of great excellence?

Before long—the new addition, increasing the seating capacity by sixty per cent.

COURT ANNULS BANKRUPTCY OF 'CO-OP SOCIETY'

Holds Original Petition Is Not Sufficient.

HARRISON
PARKER.

Dismissal of the complaint of bankruptcy in the United States District court against the Cooperative Society of America was ordered yesterday by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals. At the same time the appellate court directed the District court to set aside the order referring the case to a master in bankruptcy, but gave leave to the court to fix the time and terms of filing an amended complaint.

Follows Receiver's Report.
The court's decision, which was made on an appeal by the society's attorneys after Judge Evan A. Evans had overruled a motion for dismissal of the proceedings, came just a few days after a preliminary receiver's report had alleged perjury, mismanagement, and other misdemeanors on the part of the society's officials.

In the first count of the decision, the court held that it had jurisdiction under section 24b of the bankruptcy act to entertain and rule on the appeal. In the second count, wherein the society's attorneys had challenged the sufficiency of the complaint, the court pointed out several contradictions in verbiage and allegations. On this ground the court held the complaint was "too indefinite to support an action in bankruptcy."

No fraud had been shown in the original petition of bankruptcy, the court said, and the conclusion was that "the District court erred in sustaining the legal sufficiency" of the petition.

Language of Court.
After holding the complaint illegal, the court ruled that the order of reference to a master in bankruptcy should be canceled, and concluded:

"The petition to review and revise is sustained, and the District court is directed to set aside the order of reference and to sustain defendants' motion to dismiss the complaint (as a demurrer thereto), with leave to the court to fix time and terms of filing an amended complaint."

Officials of the society last night held the decision as a "sweeping victory for Harrison Parker and his associates in the society." Opposing lawyers said that the decision would have little effect on the pending litigation.

Mrs. Parker Back.
Mrs. Edith Stubbs Parker, long missing wife of the chief trustee of the society, came back to Chicago yesterday. She said she had been in Canada to escape the "embarrassment of questioning by attorneys about affairs of the society of which she had little or no knowledge."

Mrs. Marion Stewart Honeyman.

STEWART'S HEIR URGES OUSTING OF GUARDIANS

Says One Seeks to Control Company.

Riverhead, N. Y., Dec. 28.—New complications were revealed in surrogate's court here today in the affairs of the late John K. Stewart, who, born to the name of Terrance O'Brien, changed it and rose to affluence and power as head of the Stewart-Warner Speedometer corporation.

Supporting the contention of Mrs. Robert B. Honeyman Jr., Stewart's daughter, Phillip C. Lindgren of Chicago, formerly private secretary to the manufacturer, testified that Leander H. La Chance had used his position of administrator of the Stewart estate to obtain control of the speedometer company and the John K. Stewart Manufacturing company.

La Chance, a nephew of the late Mrs. Stewart, is now head of both companies. Mrs. Honeyman, a minor, is seeking to have him and Martin Taylor, a New York attorney, removed as her guardians and to deny them letters of administration over the estate of her sister, Jean, who died last October in Chicago.

Lindgren testified that he, too, had been appointed an administrator of Stewart's estate, but had been given to understand by La Chance and Taylor at the outset that he would be ousted if he failed to follow their directions.

He said that La Chance used the stock of the two Stewart companies as collateral for loans, and with the proceeds invested in Stewart stocks, which he held in his own name.

ORDER 70 MOTOR POLICE ADDED TO HIGHWAY FORCE

Chicago and Cook county are to have seventy new highway policemen to patrol the rural highways on motorcycles. This was decided yesterday by the judges of the Circuit court.

Shortly after the decision was rendered Hayden N. Bell, counsel for the Cook county board, issued a statement which was to the effect that in his opinion the ruling of the judges was illegal. Sheriff Peters and his first assistant,

H. C. W. Laubenhelmer, however, are preparing to organize the new rural police and appoint under the judges' ruling a chief of the highway deputies and three sergeants.

Several weeks ago Sheriff Peters filed a petition with the Circuit court judges asking them for permission to appoint 125 highway deputies. Each man, it was proposed, was to furnish his own motorcycle and the county was to pay him a salary of $125 a month and allow him a certain amount for the upkeep of his machine.

The judges took the matter under advisement and appointed a committee consisting of Judges Charles M.

Thomson, Thomas J. Lynch, and Harry Fisher, to consider the matter. Yesterday the committee made their report favoring the appointment and the petition of the sheriff was granted.

Annually use organic Nuxated Iron to build up red blood, strength and endurance.

There are thousands of people who are ailing and breaking down at a time of life when they should be enjoying that perfect health which carries defiance to disease simply because they are not aware to the condition of their blood. Without organic iron your blood carries no oxygen, and without oxygen there is nothing to unite with the carbon in your food as what you eat does you no good. It is like putting coal into a stove without fire. You can now obtain organic iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils, and apples from an "drugist" under the name of Nuxated Iron. Nuxated Iron also contains the principal chemical constituent of active, living nerve force: it is, therefore, a true blood and nerve food. It helps create and rebuild new and stronger red blood cells. It feeds the body the substances which nerve force must have to give it that vital, electrifying power which is stored in the nerve and brain cells of man. Nuxated Iron often increases the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, rundown men and women in two weeks time. The manufacturers guarantee successful results to every purchaser or they will refund your money.

EDISON COMPANY OPENS NEW UNIT; EXCEEDS NIAGARA

Capacity Now More than 880,000 Horse Power.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

When the Commonwealth Edison company "turned on the juice" yesterday from the first units of its new Calumet station it shoved Niagara Falls out of the lead. With the new plant the Commonwealth's capacity now exceeds 880,000 horse power, which is greater than the developed generating power at Niagara, although the latter sells somewhat more current.

The new station which was "cut in" has already cost $10,000,000. The part so far finished consists of two generating units of 30,000 kilowatts each.

When the plant is completed its capacity will be more than 180,000 kilowatts, or 250,000 horse power, and the investment will exceed $20,000,000.

Stock Sold to Customers.

One interesting sidelight on the trend in public utilities is the fact that more than one-half of the $10,000,000 already spent on the new plant in the last year and a half was raised by the sale of stock to customers in lots of two to five shares each. The selling was done by the regular employees.

The number of shareholders in the company on Dec. 15 was 26,070, of whom 95 per cent live in Chicago. In November, 1918, there were 5,700 shareholders—since the armistice the number has increased nearly five-fold.

Immense Plant on Calumet.

The new plant rears its row of eighteen foot stacks 250 feet into the air on the Calumet river near the Illinois-Indiana state line. As business revives, the new supply of current is expected to accelerate the expansion of the great Calumet industrial region. For years the demand for current has far outrun the supply, but the new units are estimated to have a capacity sufficient to care for industrial development in the region for at least the next two years. And by that time other units in the station will probably be finished.

As it stands the new station is about 300 feet square, or nearly a city block. It was built on swamp land, formerly under water, and it has the latest innovations in labor saving devices, the coal and ash handling, for instance is done by machinery.

To Fit Into Inter-State Scheme.

The Calumet plant is to fit into the great scheme of electric superpower development of Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana, which contemplates the building of a 220,000 kilowatt station on the shores of Lake Michigan just north of Waukegan. Chicago has already become the hub of a vast network of inter-connected electric transmission lines in the upper Mississippi valley, stretching nearly to Minneapolis and south to the coal fields of Kentucky.

Of all the world's large cities, Chicago is said to use more electricity per capita than any other. In 1920 the sales of electricity amounted to over 600 kilowatt hours per inhabitant. In 1890 it was about two to three kilowatt hours per capita. It shows the rapid growth of the push button age, both in the home and in the factory.

When completed, at full capacity the new Calumet plant will be a rival of the Flak street station of the Commonwealth, which has a rating of 230,000 kilowatts and is said to be the largest electric generating plant in the world under one roof.

According to officials of the company, the various plants will consume 2,400,000 tons of coal next year.

SMALL FAILS TO HEED CHANCE TO ASSIST FARMERS

Short Reply Given Gov.
McCray's Plea.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Rumors in Chicago that Gov. Len Small has abruptly refused an opportunity to add the Illinois farmers led to the presentation of the subject today to Gov. Warren T. McCray at the Indiana capital.

Gov. McCray said that as chairman of the War Finance committee of the War Finance corporation he had addressed an appeal to Gov. Small early in December and that it had been ignored. It was an earnest exhortation that Gov. Small call a meeting of Illinois bankers and farmers so that the latter might be enabled to take advantage of the relief offered them through the war finance corporation.

"I shall write him another letter on the subject today," said the Indiana executive, who had indicated that, instead of condemning Small's apparent refusal to act, he preferred to believe that his plea had been overlooked.

About Dec. 1 Gov. McCray conducted in Indianapolis a highly successful meeting between Indiana bankers and farmers, during which the possibilities of aid from the War Finance corporation were discussed.

The corporation was on hand, and at the conclusion of the session a large majority of the 300 bankers present gave assurances they would take full advantage of the opportunity of aiding the farmers by cooperation with the War Finance corporation.

So successful was this session that in writing to Gov. Small a sort of report upon the Chicago conference of governors he urged that Illinois have the same sort of bankers-farmers meeting. He set forth all the advantages that would result. That was on Dec. 5. But the answer he received from Gov. Small was brief. It was merely a two line "thank you" for the report on the conference of governors. Not a word about the appeal that he call a meeting of the farmers and the bankers of Illinois.

DOWNSTATE AID FOR COUNTY IN 'CON CON' FIGHT

One dozen delegates from the downstate districts in the constitutional convention, that reassembles at Springfield next Tuesday, are now agreed that radical restriction of Cook county's representation in the general assembly means the defeat of any constructive document that can be produced by the convention.

The information conveyed to Chicago yesterday was that this dozen is now prepared to go through with the solid Cook county delegation in effecting a compromise on legislative apportionment.

The twelve, of whom William E. Trautmann of East St. Louis is a recognized leader, are representatives of the larger downstate districts, rapidly becoming metropolitan in character, such as East St. Louis, Peoria, Springfield, Rock Island, and Rockford.

"SASSAFRAS" IS FATAL TO 44 KIDS —IN SPELLING BEE

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 28.—[Special.]—When Blake Henderson of Cuba, Fulton county, spelled "sassafras" correctly late this afternoon, he became Illinois state champion speller.

Blake won his honors from a group of forty-four grammar school champions spelled from as many counties of the state in Representatives hall. The annual state spelling bee, the forerunner of the meeting of the Illinois State Teachers' association, brought together boys and girls from various parts of the state, all hopeful of winning banners offered by the teachers.

Only four of the original forty-four contestants had perfect papers after 225 words had been given by Elmer W. Cravins of the Illinois State Normal school at Normal.

Two Boys and Two Girls in Finals.

Two boys and two girls were in the finals. Frances Redding of Pochontas won second place from Fred Painter of Stronghurst, Henderson county. She missed only two words in the contest, while young Painter missed three.

Each misspelled "pickering." The girl could not spell "bologna," while her boy rival was unable to make good on "islinglass" and "cemetery."

Little Merle Shoop, representing the city schools of Mount Vernon, was fourth in the contest. She lost out in the race when she misspelled "hazardous" and "pension," and also was unable to spell "sassafras."

Blake Henderson, spelling champion of the year, is only 12 years old and the youngest of the group of four to enter the finals. The boys were in the minority when the contest opened, the entry list showing twelve boys and thirty-two girls.

K. K. K. DIVISION REACHES COURT ON RECEIVERSHIP

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 28.—Hearing on petition of 174 bona fide members of the Ku Klux Klan that it be thrown into receivership and that Edward Young Clarke and Mrs. Elizabeth Tyler, two of its officers, be removed, was set today for Jan. 28 before Judge John T. Pendleton in Superior court here.

Judge Pendleton granted a temporary order restraining the organization from disposing of any of its property or disbursing any money except for ordinary expenses, which must not include salaries of officers, pending the hearing.

Signers of the petition included four grand grandmasters recently deposed by order of William Joseph Simmons, imperial wizard, and for and against whom various suits have recently been filed. They are Harry B. Terrell, Lloyd B. Hooper, F. W. Atkin, and A. J. Padon Jr., all of whom had been representing the Klan in northern states.

The temporary order stipulated that the Klan should take no further steps against them pending the hearing.

HEART DISEASE FATAL.

Michael Polanski, 62 years old, died on the way to a hospital yesterday, supposedly of heart disease, after he had been taken from a street car by the Shakespeare avenue police.

Is the sun ever jealous?

EVERY evening a little before dusk the sun is able to see electric lights appear on the earth.

And on dark, cloudy days electricity frequently comes to the sun's assistance. In buildings and on the streets the incandescents glow.

Can you imagine the sun getting peevish at this? Can you imagine the sun complaining, "My success has brought out a host of vulgar imitators that are threatening my future?"

Can you imagine the sun saying in an advertisement:

who nibbles the edges of their trade. What is more, they are shocked that the public will buy the substitute when the genuine is not to be had.

There are other manufacturers who might be the sun of their business, but who object to such development because it would help the lesser lights.

Such firms need to be told again and again that favorable public opinion for their goods does not take the form of active public aggression against small and convenient competition.

We all approve of the sun,

Beware of IMITATION SUNLIGHT

THERE is only one genuine sunlight. It comes from the one and original sun direct to the consumer. Don't be imposed upon by imitation light from candles, kerosene, gas, electricity, etc. These are costly, weak, and inefficient substitutes. Use only genuine sunlight and reject the product of impostors.

OLD SOL ILLUMINATING CORP.

There are manufacturers who by good merchandise and good advertising are to their markets what the sun is to light.

But because they cannot sell everybody all the time they rail at the small parasite but we refuse to undress in the dark.

Don't be afraid of unscrupulous firms of low candle-power. Do not fear that they will ever furnish substantial competition to anybody. Be the sun, powerful and unafraid.

ONCE a month, or more frequently, we issue a publication called Batten's Wedge. Each issue is devoted to a single editorial on some phase of business. If you are a business executive and would like to receive copies, write us.

It Pays To Advertise In The Tribune

Arabian Nights Surpassed

The Store transported into the Home

Since long before Sindbad the Sailor brought rich cargoes to the merchants of Bagdad until many years after John Kinzie and Jean Baptiste Beaubien opened their stores for Indians on the banks of the Chicago River, there was little change in the retailing of merchandise. Men gathered a stock of goods and waited for customers to call or peddled their goods from door to door. Prices were arrived at by bargaining, and unlimited argument was involved in the consummation of sales.

The tabulation below shows the extent to which local merchants use The Tribune. These huge expenditures of fifty thousand to more than a million dollars each for advertising are made only because Tribune advertising produces sales.

Modern merchandising, fixed prices, specialized service, elimination of haggling, and the enormous expansion of opportunity in the field of retailing are by-products of the modern newspaper.

How merchants of past ages would marvel at The Chicago Tribune carrying into hundreds of thousands of homes the offerings of the stores—illustrated accurately—priced definitely—described fairly—right up to the minute in every respect!

How they would marvel at the vast buildings crowded with customers drawn, magnet-like, by these advertisements—customers sold before they enter the store—sold on the purchase of a definite article at the price asked for it.

These are common-places to us, but they mark a swift advance in the economic history of the world. Never in past centuries has the merchant been able to buy goods with such certainty of selling them. The physical movement of merchandise has been facilitated by steam and electricity and gasoline. The more subtle movement of merchandise, which involves a change in ownership, has been equally facilitated by the tremendous new force exemplified by Chicago Tribune advertising.

The small merchant also has profited from the development of newspaper advertising. The outlying grocer, druggist, hardware merchant, etc., has his share of space in The Tribune along with the big stores of the Loop. But he doesn't pay for it. The manufacturers, whose merchandise he stocks, purchase advertising in The Tribune to help its sale. The small merchant is thus placed on an equality with his larger competitors as far as these advertised products are concerned.

This type of advertising has had a wonderfully beneficial effect on the business of the average retailer. It stabilizes prices, standardizes demand and speeds up turnover. He buys merchandise with certainty that he will sell it in a short time, replace it, sell it, and so on; thus securing many profits during the course of a year on each dollar of invested capital.

The up-to-date merchant has learned that he can make most money and best serve his customers by selling them swiftly and in large numbers the products they have been made ready to accept. Gross profits per sale may be smaller than under the ancient system, but net profits on capital invested are larger.

Tribune advertising not only makes money for merchants large and small, but also saves money for Tribune readers.

The following are a few of the many Tribune-Advertised articles which enable retailers to turn over capital invested in them surely and frequently. Manufacturers have already convinced vast numbers of prospective customers of the merit of each of these products.

PLENTY OF ICE; CLUBS READY TO RUN OFF DERBIES

Skating surfaces in all the west side parks were officially opened yesterday, and in another day or so of continued freezing weather the south and north park systems will declare their lagoons safe for the sport. Small ponds in these sections of the city, and numerous playgrounds, already are open.

With two of the most important of the local ice racing fixtures booked for Sunday and Monday—the annual New Year's day Derby of Sleipner A. C. at Humboldt park Sunday and the Norwegian-American A. A. events on the same course Jan. 2—the steel blades enthusiasts yesterday leaped at the chance to practice at Humboldt, Garfield, and Douglas parks. The ice at Columbus park was ruled safe last Tuesday, and yesterday the lagoons in all these large west side grounds were fairly black with crowds.

Mark White Square Races.

The annual ice carnival of Mark White square, Halsted and 29th streets, will also be held Sunday, starting at 2 o'clock. Twelve events are booked, most of them for boy and girl contestants.

The Norwegian-American club yesterday announced the program for its events on Monday would include one mile contests for classes AA, A, B, C, and novices. Half mile events are scheduled for women, juniors under 16 years, and boys under 14. There also will be a two mile relay and two mile team handicap.

Lights for Night Skating.

One of the most popular outdoor sports in the city is the public pond at Kimball and Leland avenues, on the northwest side. This surface is illuminated with lights at night and accommodates hundreds of skaters.

NOTES OF THE CUE ROOMS.

In the opening match in the three cushion tournament at Bensinger's Washburn rooms, H. Peterson beat Gray, 40 to 25, last night.

Charlie Le Gros beat Ernie Johnson, 421, 50 to 37, in eight-nine innings, in a Chicago league game, at Singer & Spokes' last night.

Le Gros had a high run of 5 and Johnson 4. Tombs, at the Madison Square room, Dr. Harris plays Gene Moreau.

LENIN IS MASTER MIND OF WORLD, DEBS DECLARES

Enormous Crowds Greet Socialist at Home.

BY WALTER RODERICK.

Terre Haute, Ind., Dec. 28.—(Special.)—Eugene V. Debs was welcomed home tonight with red fire and blaring bands. Fully 50,000 men, women, and children, the home folks of Terre Haute and the workers in mines, shops, and mills from the surrounding towns, indulged in a demonstration such as probably never before greeted the return of a man from prison.

He was caught up in a surge of humanity as soon as he set his foot upon the station platform and was borne along on its crest until he was lifted into an automobile truck agleam with red torches.

For more than three blocks people were wedged together in a solid mass. He waved his hand to the cheering crowds as they streamed along behind bearing white placards on which various legends were inscribed in brilliant red. "Everybody smiles now," read one. "Prison and President cannot scare me," read another.

Sing "Home, Sweet Home." A band led by two men carrying a long streamer with the words "Welcome home, Comrade Debs," struck up "Home, Sweet Home," and the procession moved through crowded streets to the Debs home, an old frame residence at 451 North 8th street.

Mrs. Katherine Debs—Kate Debs, Terre Haute calls her—stood silently, grimly on the wide veranda. During her husband's absence she has lived alone in the old home with her aged mother, Mrs. Katherine Badr, now almost blind.

As the torch lit truck passed in front of the home, she placed "Home, Sweet Home," Debs standing at the head of the steps supported by her brother, Arthur Baur, and Mayor Charles R. Hunter. As Debs forced his way to the porch his hand was grasped again and again. Finally no one stood between him and his wife.

He flung his arms around her, kissed her, and bowed his head against her cheek as she buried hers upon his shoulder. Thus they stood for a full moment—tears streaming from Debs' cheeks. Then Debs kissed the other members of the family.

Mayor Kisses Him Again. For the second time Mayor Hunter stepped forward and planted a kiss on the Socialist's cheek. He already had kissed Debs at the depot.

Celia Rotter, one of the officers of the Debs conference for freedom, who accompanied him on the train, announced to the crowd that he would have a few words to say.

"Brothers, and friends, and neighbors and comrades," Debs began. "Home again."

"Thank God, Genk," exclaimed an old man in the crowd.

"There is no bitterness or rancor in my heart against any man. I was simply true to my convictions. In the future we may differ in our opinion, but there will always be that spirit of friendship."

A cheer arose as he turned and gathered Mrs. Debs in his arms. The door was held open and together they passed inside.

Debs was greeted all along the way by veteran railroad men, once members of his old American Railway union. He was accompanied by his brother, Theodore Debs; Otto Branstetter, secretary of the Socialist party; Bertha Bale White, George Koop, and other Socialists who were from Chicago and Terre Haute to meet him.

At Indianapolis he spent several hours at the Spencer house, delivering a brief address to a crowd.

Going to Visit Russia. He said he would have to adjust himself to new conditions and "set his mind again in order." He said he lived out his program, but stated that he might make a European trip, probably to Russia, within the coming year.

"I come from the working people," he said, "and I have always fought their battle and I can do nothing else but continue the struggle. An era of rule by the working people is coming all over the world. Wars are fought by the working people and they will have the say as to whether they should go to war."

"Men, who go into war to be shot, mutilated, and gassed are heroes for the moment. This false heroism soon vanishes and the heroes become slaves. You never see the plutocrats wounded. One of the greatest of our enemies would be to see a one-legged member of a chamber of commerce."

Likens Self to Wilson. "The American people were led to believe it was a war of self-preservation, a war for democracy, and yet President Wilson himself said in his St. Louis speech that it was a commercial war."

"And for saying that same thing I was sent to prison. The only difference was that I said it at the beginning of the war and he at the finish."

"I want to say that this disarmament conference at Washington is of the smallest consequence in ultimate results. The thing of largest consequence in far reaching and promised results is the Russian revolution. The beacon light of the world today shines from Russia. It is the first organized attempt of the workers to establish self-government and do away with the exploitation of the worker."

"The one great outstanding figure who emerged from the war and who overthrew all of the military chieftains and all of the ruling class statesmen and all of the war making diplomats is Nicolai Lenin of Russia."

Debs admitted he had no first hand information of the Russian situation.

Mr. Warfield as a Beneficent Specter

"THE RETURN OF PETER GRIMM."

A play by David Belasco. Presented in revival at Powers' theater, Dec. 26, 1921. The cast:

Peter Grimm.....David Warfield

Fredrick.....Joseph Brennan

James Hartman.....John Sainpolis

Andrew MacPherson.....George Wallington

The Rev. Henry Batholomew.....William Boar

Col. Tom Lawton.....John F. Webber

Kathleen.....Miriam Doyle

Mrs. Batholomew.....Marie Bates

Maria.....Marie Bates

The Clown.....David Malcolm

BY SHEPPARD BUTLER.

THE circus band was gone. Kathleen, unwillingly, had plighted her troth as stubborn old Peter Grimm wished, and Peter, with a sigh of content, fingered his long pipe and sank into his chair. In a moment the pipe clattered to the floor, and we knew that he was dead.

So began again the strange adventure which David Warfield first acted for us ten years ago at the Blackstone, and which he now resumes at Powers' as though no time at all had intervened.

It is not, I suspect, a very good play, nor yet a very true play, but it is a very DAVID WARFIELD.

popular play. The theater at yesterday's matinee was thronged, and I venture there was not a dry eye in the place.

Whatever your beliefs as to whether or not the dead come back, you are odd indeed if you can resist the spell of Mr. Warfield's mellow, kindly, whimsical specter as he returns to right the wrong his tender bungling has worked in the heart affairs of his foster daughter. If Mr. Belasco's theatricalism sometimes seems a shade too apparent in the play, if the creeping "spotlights" are too much in evidence and a speech here and there a thought too flowery, there is always the benign presence of Mr. Warfield to atone. He humanizes the story and makes it credible.

Human, too, are the other old time actors of the piece—John Sainpolis as the harassed villain, Joseph Brennan as the bluff doctor, Miss Marie Bates as the pesterful meddler, and the delectable and comical, I should say, is Miss Miriam Doyle, the newcomer who has the role of Kathleen and plays it with a lovely, wistful simplicity.

She seems to feel the note of poetry that threads the tale and finds expression in the haunting music of the circus band, recurrent like a motif in opera to mark the presence of the little boy whom Peter Grimm takes away with him into the land of dreams.

I have remembered that faint melody for ten years, as I have remembered the figure of Mr. Warfield standing at the door with the boy in his arms, speaking his last line.

If the rest only knew! Now we go.

REALLY OWNERS
PLAN TO THWART
JANITOR STRIKE

Although present negotiations may effect a settlement by the Chicago Real Estate board and the Flat Janitors' union on a new working agreement, the real estate organization announced yesterday that preparations were being made for a strike.

Bills of injunction are ready for filing, should the janitors walk out next Monday when their agreement expires, restraining them from interfering with the delivery of milk and pulling fires.

Meanwhile, the real estate board has appointed James J. Carroll to meet with William Quessie of the Janitors' union, so arrangements can be made for the selection of a third party to act as arbitrator to adjust the wage dispute.

According to Quessie the Janitors' union will accept either Judge Baras or County Treasurer Patrick J. Carr as the third mediator.

Following a meeting of the Chicago Real Estate board last night, Mr. Waterfield announced that resolutions were being practically every property owner in the city upholding property owners' stand and promising support in event of a strike.

BURCH, ALIENIST SAYS, INSANE; HE WAS TOO FUNNY

Called Madelynn "Dear Goddess," Too.

BY EDWARD DOHERTY.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28.—(Special.)—Do you remember your wife's name? Who is President of the United States? Where were you just before you came here? Upon such tests as these depends the proof of sanity—and the fortunes—of Arthur Courtenay Burch, charged with the murder of J. Belton Kennedy.

Dr. Charles L. Allen, the first of the alienists summoned to show the defendant is insane, propounded these questions to Burch. And he says Burch is insane. Burch didn't answer them. Moreover, he laughed in the doctor's face; was flippant and facetious. He lied to the doctor, but the doctor found him out. For instance, Arthur said he had forgotten his wife's name. The doctor knew, he testified today, that the patient was stalling.

Another thing—what do you call the young lady of your fancy? A lot depends on that, Dr. Allen believes.

Letters to Madelynn. District Attorney Thomas Leo Woolwine was reading to the doctor some of the letters and telegrams written by Burch to Madelynn Ochsenschain. After reading each one, he asked, "Any evidence of insanity there?"

"No, perfectly sane," said Woolwine came to the one beginning "My Dear Goddess."

"Sane, except the beginning," said the doctor. "That doesn't sound sane."

Woolwine jumped up. "Why, doctor," he said, amusements in his tones, "you've heard him call their women friends 'Goddess Queen, Goddess Star, Love, Rose, Tootsie-Wootsie,' haven't you, a thousand times or more in your life?"

"Yes, but it's silly just the same," said the doctor. "Sane men have said such things, haven't they?"

"I suppose they may have, but that doesn't alter the case."

"Well, you're getting old, doctor."

"So are we, Mr. Woolwine," said Defense Attorney Paul W. Schenck.

"Yes," Woolwine said, "but, thank God, not that old."

"No fool like an old fool," said the man in the witness chair.

Woolwine went on, reading Burch's love letters and telegrams. There was no sign of insanity in them, the doctor said.

Calls Burch Insane. Dr. Allen said he was sure Burch was insane after conversing with him for a few minutes on several occasions and needed no history or antecedents to aid him in forming his opinion.

But he was unable to classify Burch's insanity or to quote more than a few of the answers given to test questions.

He said Burch was amused at the time and laughed at his inquisitor when asked who was President of the United States.

"He lied to me when I asked his wife's name," said the doctor. "That's one indication of insanity."

"Sane men lie too, do they not?"

"Some of them all the time?" he was asked.

"I guess they do," he answered.

Q—"Why should he lie to you?" A—"Out of facetiousness, or a desire to embarrass me, or out of suspicion."

Q—"He had sense enough to evade you, didn't he?" A—"I don't think it would have hurt him to answer all the questions. He was not so suspicious on my second visit."

Thinks Burch Was Spoofing. Q—"You think Burch was making sport of you?" A—"Yes."

Q—"Don't you think he calculated to provoke laughter for you to put such a question to a grownup man?" A—"No."

Q—"Can you tell us one answer Burch gave to your questions?" A—"Well, he said I was trying to unload a chestnut on him, and when I asked him something about Madelynn Ochsenschain he became angry and said: 'I don't like that; I resent that very much.'"

Q—"What was the question you asked him?" A—"I asked him if he did not think Madelynn and J. Belton Kennedy had been intimate."

Then followed a long discussion as to the meaning of the word "intimate." The alienist contending that there was no aspersions on Madelynn contained in the word and that if there were such aspersions the word had been given a significance that should not attach to it.

Mrs. M. Louise Wilson, owner of a beauty parlor and the friend of Madelynn—it was she who arranged a trying plan for Madelynn and Kennedy proceeded Dr. Allen on the stand. She told how Madelynn had got Burch to send a telegram from Chicago to mislead Kennedy.

AIN'T IT A GRAND AND GLORIOUS FEELIN'?

HER PHANTOM LOVER

ELIZABETH YORK MILLER

SYNOPSIS. Doria Westhaven kills her husband's cousin, Andrew Mandell, who she loves. She is sentenced to life in prison. Her lover, a man named Drake, escapes from prison and goes to London. He finds out that Doria is still alive and goes to see her. He tells her that he loves her and that he wants to be with her. Doria tells him that she loves him too and that she wants to be with him. They get married and live happily ever after.

A FACE FROM THE PAST

They lunched usually at Drake's club, but dinner was always at home, and after that, if they didn't go to a theater or music hall, they went to a cinema.

Ted had a cigarette after dinner and one night, when Martin Drake made a remark about "coffin nails," he helped himself to a cigar, instead. There followed a quiet and slightly apprehensive interval, shared by all three, but nothing happened, and nothing was said.

"I suppose he is growing up," Drake remarked later, when the two older men were together. "And he's big for his age. Pritchard tells me that he shaves. I don't suppose Doria would approve of the way we're forcing him."

Ronald laughed. "Forcing him? My dear Martin, he's forcing himself. We did the same thing, I'm sure. At least I did. Always so eager to grow up."

"His mother's still a child," mused Drake, "but an unhappy one. I'm glad you're going down to see her, Ronny."

"I am rather dreading it," Ronald replied. "His friend did not know what he meant; the remark was capable of several interpretations."

On the last day of this delightful interlude, the three bachelors were to lunch as usual at Drake's pet club, a solemn fatuous spot in the wilderness of clubland, where the cooking was good, the cellar likewise, and the members to a man conspicuously exclusive.

For all of his progressive spirit and what most people called wild ideas, Ted liked this club, but his liking was chiefly because of the comic things that happened. People glared at each other over the tops of newspapers; there was a hush room, of course, and sometimes members brought guests to lunch of which other members quite obviously did not approve. These things were very diverting.

It happened on this last day that Drake was bringing another guest. He explained at great length to Ronald that a legal luminary from the United States had turned up with a letter of introduction and that he was perforce compelled to offer some trifling hospitality.

"So I've asked him to lunch," he said. "I hope you don't mind. I'm too old fashioned to invite people to restaurants and I won't have anybody in my own home until I know them."

The morning was a busy one. Ted had left most of his shopping until the last moment, and turned up at the tailor's just in time to meet Ronald, who was also being fitted for a new suit. Then they got into a taxi and by a nautical arrival for the luncheon appointment not more than two minutes late.

The American had already arrived and was in the smoking room with Martin Drake.

Ronald saw them from the doorway and turned back. "Go alone," he said to Ted. "Tell Mr. Drake I'll join you in a moment."

There was no trace of agitation in his voice. He had schooled himself never to show surprise, but on this occasion he was nearly caught unaware.

He couldn't be mistaken. As long as life lasted he would never forget that lean, harsh face, with its piercing eyes, and the wide mouth that inclined to grim humor. It was graven for all time on the tablets of his memory.

Ten years ago that day when sitting with Drake in the club smoking room had been the prosecuting counsel at the trial which ended in a sentence of life imprisonment for Ronald.

Turning back he caught sight of his own face in the hall mirror, and a mischievous laugh escaped his lips. O'Malley would not be likely to recognize. He pulled himself together and entered the room.

Drake gave him a sharp glance of disapproval.

"Late, Ronny—and I've ordered a pair of ducklings! If we keep them waiting they'll be ruined. My friend,

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

Question. How often do you have to stand up on a street car going to and from work?

Where Asked. Madison and Dearborn.

The Answer. "Thomas C. Hollywood, 3429 Elaine place, lawyer.—Going down to work in the morning, I probably get a seat once or twice a month at the most. On the way home, it's different, because I don't go home during rush hours. But it is surely annoying to have to stand practically all the time."

Donna Hopkins Westerman, Van Buren hotel, actress.—"I presume it would be 50 per cent of the time. And I generally have my hands full trying to hold on to straps. I go to the theater at the busy hours and have an awful time. Returning, of course, I always get a seat, as it is so late I seldom meet many."

Julian Freeman, 25 N. May street, auto salesman.—"I stand up nine out of ten times on the Roosevelt and Ogden avenue cars going to work. If they'd put our heads off and pack us in on all we make perfect sardines. It is a shame that we have to pay for such awful service."

Genevieve Roland, 1827 North Troy street, stenographer.—"I stand up all the time going home; in the morning I transfer cars after the transfer usually get a seat—that would make me stand up about 75 per cent of the time. I guess it seems like I'm always standing up."

G. H. Graham, 127 North Dearborn street, broker.—"I have to stand up in most cases both morning and evening at a time when everybody seems to be either coming to work or going home. Some way, somehow, more adequate service ought to be arranged and I suppose there will never come a time when it won't be a shame—the service."

BEG YOUR PARDON

It was stated in Monday's TRIBUNE that Leo E. Wolf played "Good Fellow" to half a dozen poor Irish and Italian children at his home, 411 East 46th street. Mr. Wolf was host to thirty-two children instead of six.

Plan Motors for Waste. Pentup dissatisfaction with the filthy conditions of Chicago's streets and alleys during the last few years resulted last night in a decision of the committee to motorize the city's waste distribution system at an ultimate cost of $2,000,000.

The decision means the gradual discontinuance of the use of teams, long a petty political plum among ward politicians, and to replace them by motor trucks and trailers in the removal of ashes and street and alley dirt.

If the council O. K.'s the plan, there is every reason to believe that a strike of the 800 teamsters will result. They struck during the payment of progress exposition last summer when a few extra trucks were put to work to take care of extra waste accumulations at the Municipal pier.

As a starter the committee voted unanimously to spend $500,000 in 1922 to purchase forty trucks and 225 trailers and to continue spending at that rate until the department is completely motorized at a cost of $2,000,000 by the end of 1925. About 800 trailers and 128 trucks will be necessary for the big program.

The committee voted to spend $18,000 for three snow loaders at once and $98,000 for ten new street flushers.

COUNCIL'S RULE KEEPS MRS. ROWE IN JOB FOR YEAR

Attempt to Oust Her Fails
on Point of Order.

Mrs. Louise Geborne Rowe's job, declared to be "the most useless of the 17,500 on municipal pay rolls," is made for another year.

The desire of the city council to cut expenses by getting rid of the department of public welfare, as head of which Mrs. Rowe gets a salary of $5,000 a year, was thwarted yesterday by a point of order raised by Ald. Louis B. Anderson, Negro councilman from the Second ward and Mayor Thompson's floor leader.

Twice before the council tried to get rid of Mrs. Rowe, whose 1920 taxicab bills ran into thousands of dollars. In both cases a legal opinion from Corporation Counsel Eitelson kept her glued to the public trough and permitted her to draw her salary through judgments in defiance of the council.

Rule Throttles Majority. The Lundin-Thompson aldermen, outnumbered perhaps four to one, laughed heartily yesterday when Ald. Anderson's point of order, raised for the express purpose of delaying the repeal of the ordinance creating Mrs. Rowe's job until 1922, resulted in the throttling of the council majority.

When Ald. Richard called up the amendment to a finance committee report, Ald. Anderson, who has been studying the council rule book, arose and read the following rule: "Any report of a committee of the council shall be deferred, for the purpose of the ordinance, to the next regular meeting of the same after the report is made, upon the request of any two aldermen present."

Anderson made the necessary motion and Ald. Armistage seconded it enthusiastically.

Mayor Sustains the Point. "I rule that the point of order is well taken," said Mayor Thompson.

"You're cooked," Ald. Anderson told Ald. Anderson, who fathered the repealing ordinance. "You're done for another year."

Under an old ruling of Corporation Counsel Eitelson in Mrs. Rowe's case, the council may not abolish the job except at the end of the year.

Thus if Mrs. Rowe's tenure is abolished next Tuesday when the repealing ordinance comes up for action, it will not become effective until Dec. 31, 1922, one year and one day hence.

FOR LANDIS SCALE

Judge Landis' building trades award given an important support last night when the city council finance committee at work on the 1922 budget decided unanimously and without reservation in favor of applying the Landis scale to city payrolls.

Ald. George Mayne made the motion to back Judge Landis up in the building trades controversy and Ald. Lytle seconded it after a prolonged debate on the complicated problem.

Although the motion referred only to scales in the corporate budget, affecting only about fifteen plumbers and sixty electrical inspectors and workers, the action declared to be a "decision in principle." The policy laid down, it was said, will be applied to the payrolls of the water department.

The amount saved by adoption of the lower scales in the water pipe extension division and other branches of the water department was declared to be in excess of $300,000.

WHEAT RALLIES AFTER A SLUMP; CLOSES STRONG

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

While the grain markets showed a heavy undertone early due to scattered selling, there was excellent support given wheat at \$1.15 for May, which absorbed the surplus in the pit and toward the last a general movement to even up for the government report, which was due after the close, made a strong rally. Wheat closed $\frac{1}{4}$ lower to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, corn $\frac{1}{4}$ lower to $\frac{1}{2}$ higher, and rye $\frac{1}{4}$ lower.

At no time was May wheat higher than the previous day's close. Scattered commission house selling was in evidence from the start, and prices gradually worked lower until it touched $1.15. Resting orders in profusion in the hands of commission houses were found at that figure, which checked the break, while the close advance was due to evening up and on reports of a fair export business in hard winters and Manitoba.

Short Covering Brings Rally.

December dropped sharply early, but rallied quickly on covering by shorts who found offerings light on the way up, and the close was within $\frac{1}{4}$ of the top. Cash and commission houses were on the selling side of corn, and prices dropped $\frac{1}{4}$ under the previous day's close, but toward the last there was buying on reports that exporters were taking liberal quantities of cash grain in the west in anticipation of making large sales for Russian relief, and the close was at the top.

Oats held within a range of $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$, declining early with corn and rallying with that grain later, although May oats showed more strength toward the last, due to buying by commission houses. Cash demand was fair.

Heavier Provision Trading.

Trading in provisions was somewhat larger than of late, but there was liquidation on in the January deliveries which offset the effect of a sharp advance in hogs and the close was unchanged on lamb and unchanged to $\frac{1}{4}$ lower on ribs. Packers sold lamb, presumably hedging against purchases of loose from outside packers. Demand for fresh meats was a little slow. Packing of hogs in the west the last week, as compiled by the Price Current-Grain Reporter, was 546,000, against 523,000 last year, and for the season to date 4,676,000, against 5,154,000 last year. The New York Times.

New York, Dec. 28.—[Special.]—Not all forward movements which distinguished Tuesday's markets were continued today. Foreign exchange rates gave ground slightly, following a 1 cent decline in sterling. There were several individual advances in the bond market, and Liberty bonds moved up again, but as a whole the market was more hesitant. Cotton prices were higher during the first part of the day, but the heavy selling which was encountered on this rise brought final prices below the previous day's closings.

Large Dealings in Stocks.
The stock market, however, scored a large number of further advances of one point or two, and the number of separate shares dealt in was exceptionally large. Early in the day the railway shares advanced, though not on the same large trading as in the case of industrial stocks, and in a few cases prices rose 192 points. There was no obvious reason for this.

The November earnings statements now coming to hand are unusually perplexing. It was well known that the business which carried gross revenues from $457,600,000 in September to $355,100,000 in October, and net earnings from $87,100,000 to $105,100,000 was largely covered into October because of the threatened railway strike. This would naturally have meant a decrease in November, but the railway executives' estimate of only $50,000,000 net income, the smallest since April, was not easy to accept.

Reports Fall to Shed Light.
Not much light is yet thrown on the question by the November reports of the various railroads. All show smaller gross receipts than in October, but the shrinkage is most uneven and it leaves a considerable number of them with larger revenues than in September, when net results nearly reached $100,000,000. In Pacific, Pennsylvania, and Reading, for instance, all made in November the best revenue showing of any month this year except October. We shall presently have some closer expert estimates.

RAILROAD NOTES

Richard V. Lindbergh, general counsel of the United States Steel corporation, applied to the Interstate Commerce commission for permission to retain his place as officer or director of twenty-four railroad operating corporations. Most of the lines are operated by the Steel corporation as an incident to its manufacturing and mining enterprises.

The Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville railroad was authorized by the Interstate Commerce commission to issue $3,400,000 in 5 per cent bonds, money derived from the sale to be used in paying off indebtedness to the War Finance corporation. The St. Louis-San Francisco road was also authorized to issue $2,122,000 in bonds to reimburse its own treasury for expenditures on betterments along its line.

During the first twenty-three days of December the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad handled 86,488 cars, compared with 80,678 cars during the corresponding period last year. Cars loaded on company's rails totaled 40,711, compared with 51,018, and cars received from connecting lines totaled 32,910, compared with 34,935.

CROPS REVISED; WHEAT LARGER, CORN CUT DOWN

Farm values of 90 per cent of the leading crops in the United States on Dec. 1 aggregated $5,675,877,000, a decrease of $3,399,423,000 as compared with a year ago and $8,000,000 less than two years ago. This is an enormous shrinkage and shows that the agricultural interests of the country are up against it.

The five leading grains, wheat, corn, oats, rye, and barley, aggregate $1,646,000,000, or $3,906,000,000 less than the preliminary report issued by the government for this season. They were also $69,400,000 below the revised figures of 1920 and $4,000,000 below the revised returns on production in 1919.

Revision of the acreage and production of leading farm crops the last three years has been made by the department of agriculture in its final report, issued last yesterday. Acreage as previously given by the department has been somewhat out of line as compared with the census returns, and it has been revised. The total acreage of the leading crops this year is 340,348,000, or 8,761,000 acres below the revised 1920 figures.

Confirmed High Estimates.
The report given out yesterday confirmed high estimates of private industry on wheat, increasing the yield 50,000,000 bu over the preliminary returns of which 43,000,000 bu were reported. The acreage of wheat was enlarged 2,931,000. Spring wheat acreage increased 1,653,000 and the crop 11,000,000 bu.

Gains of 24,000,000 to 45,000,000 bu in the crops of 1920 and 1919, as compared with the previous returns were shown, which will necessitate a revision of the trade estimates as to consumption in previous years, and brings it above 8 bu per capita, while some have been figuring it much under that figure.

On the basis of the government report and including a carryover and imports of 95,000,000 bu, the returns suggest that the United States has produced 20,000,000 bu more wheat left for export after Jan. 1. The apparent consumption for 1920 was about 540,000,000 bu, which was considerably below normal, while this year's figures are expected to be close to 600,000,000 bu.

Corn Losses 71,000,000 Bushels.
A corn crop of 3,081,000 bu shows a loss of 71,000,000 bu from the November returns, although it is the third largest record, and 150,000,000 bu short of last year. The acreage was reduced 5,045,000. The average returns and there were also reductions of nearly 2,000,000 acres in the two previous years.

A loss of 18,000,000 bu short of last year, and revisions showed that the crop of the last three years had been largely overestimated. Rye was cut down 6,000,000 bu and barley 12,000,000 bu as compared with the previous figures, and the potato crop of 346,320,000 lb is 5,253,000 lb short of previous estimates, and is the smallest in several years.

Cuba Railroad. S. M. R., P.O. Box 111—The Cuba Railroad company is a New Jersey incorporation, owning and operating 663 miles of railroad in Cuba. It is issuing $4,000,000 of 7% per cent refunding mortgage bonds, due Dec. 1, 1926. These are non-callable. They are secured by a pledge of $4,000,000 bonds of a subsidiary and $3,956,000 of its own 5% per cent improvement and equipment mortgage bonds. They also are a direct mortgage on the company's property, subject to some $13,000,000 of prior liens. The property is valued at over twice the funded debt. Net earnings for ten years to June 30, 1921, have averaged over 2 1/2 times annual fixed charges for the period. During the year ended June 30, 1921, heavy operating costs have brought net revenues down to about half those for the previous year, though the gross was larger. Fixed charges were more than earned, but there was not enough left to pay the dividends on the preferred stock. When the poor business conditions in Cuba improve, these bonds should reach a higher investment place in the company's past history is very good, but at present we rate them as suitable only for one who can afford to dispense with the maximum of safety.
